FUTURE CREATIVITY IS ESSENTIAL

Space scientist Dr. Wernher von Braun has expressed well-founded concern over the hostility that is growing in this country toward science and technology. He said that those most vocal are the very ones professing the greatest concern about poverty, poor how hunger and the quality of the environment. These prob-lems of society depend upon our technological capabili-ties and increased productivity for their solutions.

"There is, unfortunately, no visible link between scientific discovery on the moon and our lives here on earth. Yet there are concepts and knowledge coming out of the spollo explorations, and experiments with the rocks and aoon dust, that offer the potential of improving agriculture and the treatment of disease, and may even help us locate mineral resources here on earth or predict earthquakes," he explained. Most concepts and scientific knowledge take years from time a scientist formulates them until they become full-fledged job-creating projects. By then it has been forgotten that it was the scientist who started it in the While the anti-technology people are demanding that we pull the plug on modern civilization in the belief that somehow we shall be better off in a more primitive state, many older and nearly all of the emerging nations would give their eye-teeth for a fraction of our technological Our problems cannot be solved by the "return-to-nature cult." The desire and the need to know is more important than they understand.

BRAINSTORMS

Last week I used this space to suggest a new arrangement of work hours for Coffee County Courthouse emp the reaction was greater than the action. The ladies in the Probate office took it all as a personal insult. They feel they have the right to be off between 12 and 1 "like everyone else'. This noon hour bit offended them more than the working on Saturday apparently. Nevertheless, after hearing all their objections, I still think the county offices should be open during the noon hour! And again in spite of their opinions, I am not trying to run the courthouse, just passing on to the elected officials the rumblings of the people . . . those the county offices are de-

Elsewhere on this page is a letter from a New Brockton man that pinpoints one of the big headaches we all are facing. The mail service is supposed to be getting better
. . . it cost more. According to this writer, the trip to New Brockton takes the mail truck a full week! Just think how long it will take now to get out of Coffee County. The fault is not in either the Elba nor the New Brockton offices. Our best information places the blame in the Dothan post office because our "modern" postal service takes all mail addressed to New Brockton first to the Dothan sectional Center to give "speedier service." Winton Blount designed this system and now wants to help design new laws for all departments now that he has the post office straightened out!
